Meet our Speakers

Rob Brown, DC “Restoring Low Back Form and Function”

Dr. Rob Brown is a 1987 graduate of Palmer College of Chiropractic. In 1993 he completed his CCSP program and increased his participation with athletes and sports injuries. His family practice experienced many patients having injuries which have a sports injury similarity. Dr. Brown is certified to instruct CE credits to share his knowledge & effectively offer the best treatments to reach normal function.

Nick Spano, DC “Advanced Muscle Palpation”

A 1982 graduate of the PA College of Straight Chiropractic, Dr. Nick Spano is the author of the instruction manual on Advanced Muscle Palpation concerning the reflex nature of paravertebral muscles in response to the subluxation and the practical application of this mechanism. Dr. Spano pioneered the recognition that there is a homeostatic mechanism underlying the muscular responses to the subluxation.

Aaron Tressler, DC “Understanding, Communicating and Correcting Subluxation”

Aaron Tressler, D.C. is active throughout the state with chiropractic events. He created the Chiropractic on the Farm gathering for local chiropractors and is a board member of the Chiropractic Fellowship of PA. He also coaches and trains chiropractors on philosophy, practice building and communication. He is committed to the further expansion of chiropractic. He continues to practice in suburb Pittsburgh while maintaining his speaking schedule.

“Postgraduate programs sponsored, co-sponsored or hosted by Sherman College of Chiropractic may not always reflect the view of the college or its employees.”

Course Descriptions

(More details are on our website and will be provided in future mailings close to date of seminar.)

“Advanced Muscle Palpation” Nick Spano, DC

This program presents how Innate Intelligence uses the body’s own inborn defense system to locate vertebral subluxations. Proprioception is the “True Sixth Sense of the Brain.”

From Philosophy to Science to Art to Reality — Reggie Gold discovers a gold mine buried beneath the vertebral subluxation!!

You will learn specific subluxations listings of C-1, C-2 level using the suboccipital and deep layers of the spine as a result of the abundance of mechanoreceptors in the upper cervical area.

“Restoring Low Back Form and Function” Rob Brown, DC

This program draws on current research on form and function of the lumbar spine. Dr. Brown applies chiropractic principles to the peer reviewed studies for a more accurate analysis and certainty in case management.

Dr. Brown’s lectures have been well received and are designed to easily apply into a busy practice. X-Ray, MRI, Range of Motion and Functional Testing will be included in this lecture, refreshing your skills and updating progress in imaging research.

“Understanding, Communicating and Correcting Subluxation” Aaron Tressler, DC

This program draws the most current research in science and philosophy with the objective of advancing doctors’ impact on patient outcomes. Dr. Tressler achieves this through greater knowledge of chiropractic’s safety, effectiveness and certainty in case management.

Research confirms why patients benefit from chiropractic care. Dr. Tressler will show you how to critically evaluate research in chiropractic and how to deliver this message to your patients.
